Numbers of rooms refer to plan on last page

ENGLISH (Room 10). Representative: Mr. M. F. Liddell (2/L).

A. LANGUAGE and PHILOLOGY.

1. Courses are arranged in grammar and composition for students possessing little or no previous knowledge, including one for those whose mother-tongue is other than English.
2. Special composition classes for nautical students, who are preparing for Board of Trade Examinations.
3. Special classes preparing for London Matriculation and Royal Society of Arts Examinations.
4. A class in Old English Philology and Literature, conducted by Professor Patchett.

B. LITERATURE.

1. There will be special classes for reading and studying individual authors (e. g. Milton).
2. Mr. Duncan Jones, continuing the course given by him last term, will lecture on English Literature in the 19th Century. Other similar courses will be arranged.
3. It is proposed to arrange a few lectures on: "Foreign Influences in English Literature". Particulars will be posted later.

An effort will be made to meet the demands and requirements of students who may wish to apply for subjects not contained in this syllabus.

Teachers: — Messrs. G. Carew (2/6), C. Duncan Jones (11/27), A. C. Ford (10/13), J. Gourvitch (13), D. Hill (4/Loft), A. E. Howard (9 Room), F. W. Hughesdon (7/Loft), C. S. Musgrave (11/20), Professor E. W. Patchett (8/12), W. T. R. Rawson (10/Loft), H. E. Truelove (10/8), C. D. A. Woods (12).

FRENCH (Rooms 13, 14, 15, 16). Representative: Mr. J. J. Harold (7/L). Assisted by Messrs. H. A. Bell (10/9) and Pierre Eliès (8/9).

In accordance with the system introduced last term "Siepmann's Primary French Course" will be used in all but the advanced classes, which will work with Siepmann's Readers.

The Department is divided into five grades: Beginners, Elementary, Stage I, Stage II, and Stage III.

Beginners and Elementary classes base their work on Part I of Siepmann; Stages I and II on Part II.

All grammar classes meet at least three times a week. Elementary classes study grammar and conversation together under one teacher. Special conversation classes of all grades are provided for more advanced students who are recommended to attend them in addition to the grammar classes.

Stage III includes classes for advanced grammar, conversation and reading of Siepmann's advanced texts, etc.

A class in style, composition and synonyms for advanced students will be taken by Mr. P. Eliès.

A class for the study of technical French terms (mechanism, construction, electricity) will be conducted by Mr. G. Kite.

Preparation classes will be held for London University Matriculation and Royal Society of Arts Examinations, Stages I, II, and III.

Commercial French classes in correspondence, business expressions, etc. will be continued.

The French Debates, which were such a successful feature of last term's work will continue to take place on Monday evenings from 6 to 8.

Conférences Générales and lectures on "Le Pays de France", dealing with its history, geography, commerce, art, music, literature, etc. will be given daily. A special prospectus of these will be published later.

All students of French are strongly recommended to attend these lectures, as they afford an excellent opportunity of extending the vocabulary, and of accustoming the ear to the spoken language.

2. Classes for Technical Students and others.

1. The Matriculation Mathematical course is covered in three subjects
   (a) Pure Mathematics (Compulsory paper), including Algebra and Arithmetic, first four books of Euclid, or their equivalent.
   (b) Pure Mathematics, advanced (optional paper), Co-ordinate Geometry of Straight Line and Circle; Elements of Trigonometry up to and including Solution of Triangles.
   (c) Applied Mathematics (optional paper), comprising Elements of Statics, Dynamics, and Hydrostatics.
2. In this section Arithmetic, Algebra, Mensuration, Geometry, Trigonometry, Elementary Calculus are taught, as well as Practical Mathematics. Besides classes for beginners the requirements of Engineers, Surveyors, Students of Physics, etc. are catered for.

Teachers:— Messrs. H. L. Brose (3/26), F. A. Copping (2/16), G. Darnell (9/Room), A. R. Hanson (5/L), D. Jenkins (4/L), J. O. Klein (2/9), G. H. Morison (5/L), A. M. Pennington (5/L), G. Walker (12), W. J. A. Whyte (5/L).

PHYSICAL SCIENCES (Rooms 23, 24).

Representative: Mr. J. W. Blagden (8/12).

PHYSICS.

Lectures:—

Heat (Coulthard).
Electricity (Lloyd).
General Science for nautical students (Smith).
Meteorology for nautical students (Blagden).
Practical Physics in the Laboratory (upstairs) — Mechanics Light, Sound, Electricity and Magnetism (Smith and Lloyd).

Teachers:— Messrs. J. W. Blagden (8/12), J. A. Coulthard (8/18), J. A. Lloyd (11/25), F. H. Smith (7/20).

CHEMISTRY.

Lectures:—

Inorganic Chemistry (Wechsler).
Organic Chemistry (Croad).
Chemistry for beginners (Wechsler).
Technical Chemistry (Anderson).
Practical Chemistry in the new Laboratory (Ground floor).
Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis and Preparations (Wechsler and Blagden).

Teachers:— Messrs. G. A. Anderson (1/12), J. W. Blagden (8/12), R. B. Croad (17), A. Wechsler (13).

GEOLOGY and MINERALOGY.

Elementary, geometrical crystallography (Mr. N. A. Morosoff 1/15), illustrated by collections of minerals, and models.
Dynamical Geology (Mr. F. Zabel, 10/10), to be illustrated by specimens.

BIOLOGY and AGRICULTURE (Room 21).

Representative: Mr. M. S. Pease (11/17).

Lecture List:—

Zoology (A. E. Lechmere, 7/27).
1. The Mollusca: Cephalopoda and Gasteropoda.
2. Invertebrate Embryology — Coelonterata.

Botany (M. S. Pease, 11/17).
1. General Morphology, anatomy and reproduction of the Angiosperms.
2. The systematic classification of the common flowering plants (Dr. Lechmere and Mr. Pease).

Practical Botany.
1. In connection with the above courses, daily 10 to 12.
2. Advanced course. Introduction to the technique of microtomy.

Agriculture (A. Hill, 2/L).
Seed-testing with practical work (repetition of last term's course).

PHYSIOLOGY Nutrition (S. R. Edge 7/17).

ENGINEERING (Rooms 26, 27).

Representative: A. M. Pennington (5/L).

General Mechanical Engineering.

Classes in: Machine Drawing, construction and design; heat engines, and applied mechanics.

Teachers:— Messrs. I. T. Edwards (7/L), A. G. F. Heather (10/18), A. M. Pennington (5/L), R. Venables (7/25).

Electrical Engineering.

Classes in:— Elementary and advanced D. C. Eng.
Advanced A. C. Eng.

Teachers:— Messrs. D. Jenkins (4/L), J. H. Nichols (2/2), R. Venables (7/25).

Marine Engineering.

Classes to cover requirements of the Board of Trade for Extra Chief, Chief, and Second Engineers (including also Diesel Motor Ship Engines).

Teachers:— Messrs. J. W. Blagden (8/12), W. R. Cooper (5/13), J. Murray (3/L), E. Welcome (8/20).

Special Subjects.

Ferro-Concrete (This term Arches) (Mr. C. Trietschel, 2/L).
Steel Constructional Work (Mr. H. Emmett, 2/23).
Motor-car management (Mr. G. A. Herring, 10/Room 2).
Laboratory work in Hydrostatics, Statics, Dynamics, and the Strength of Materials (Messrs. C. M. A. Whitehouse, 8/27, A. M. Pennington, 5/L).

Students interested in Building Construction and Architecture are asked to give in their names on Enrolment day.

NAUTICAL (Rooms 17, 18, 20).

Librarian: Mr. S. F. Sheasby (4/L).

With the improved accommodation, it is proposed to form more classes for practice in chart-work, and to give better facilities for revision and practice work for those who already hold B. O. T. Certificates.

For Boatbuilding, see Handicrafts Department.
For Elementary Science and Meteorology, see Physics Department
For Shipping Business, see Commercial Department.
For Composition, Essays, etc., see English Department.
For Elementary Mechanics, see Engineering Department.

HANDICRAFTS (Rooms 30, 31, 32, 33, 36).

Representative: Mr. F. Scholes (7/21).

The Department is divided into four sections

1. ART METAL WORK (Room 31) (Mr. W Stichling, 10/22).

Three full day classes will be held. The work includes the making of brooches, pendants, buckles, hat-pins, cuff-links, salt-cellars, etc. in silver and other metals.

Teachers:— Mr. W. Stichling (10/22), assisted by Messrs. H. Dewhirst (2/L) and M. W. Ninnes (2/L).

2. BOOKBINDING (Room 33) (Mr. F. C. Milner, 11/17).

There will be six half-day classes or more if necessary. A good practical knowledge of bookbinding can be acquired.

Teachers:— Messrs. F. C. Milner (11/17), T. H. Peace (11/23), F. Schlesinger (11/17), E. J. Joly (8/13).

3. FANCY LEATHER WORK (Room 30) (Mr. F. Willmot 2/L).

There will be six full day classes. The articles made are pocket-books, purses, cigarette-cases, ladies' hand-bags, etc. which may be sold in the Camp at reasonable prices.

Skin curing and tanning:— Instruction will be given in these subjects if sufficient raw material can be obtained.

Teachers:— Messrs. F. Willmot (2/L), F. Allison (2/L), T. Anderson (8/4), E N Carr (2/2), F. Gumbrill (7/24), E W Malden (2/2).

4. WOODWORKING (Room 36) (Mr. F. Scholes, 7/21).

(a) Boatbuilding. Last term's demonstration class will continue. Preference is given to nautical students, but it is hoped to form a second class for amateurs. If suitable raw material can be obtained a practical class will be formed for those nautical students who have already taken the first course.

Teacher:— Mr. F. Dalton (3/L), assisted by Capt. J. Cook (4/18).

(b) Carpentry. Owing to the high price of timber there will be no elementary classes. There will be classes for making School Equipment, technical models, laboratory apparatus. Preference will be given to those who have assisted in carrying out the improvements in the School building

(c) Pattern-making. If there are sufficient applications, Mr. Scholes will repeat the series of lectures delivered during the Summer Term 1916 on "Pattern-making, the Pattern Shop, and Foundry Practice" for Engineering Students.

(d) Woodcarving (Room 32). This subject in all its branches will be taught in two classes. Extra facilities will be given for practice.

Teacher:— Mr. J. Freeman (1/12).

Departmental Staff: Messrs. F. Scholes (7/21), H. Dewhirst (2/L), E. D. Spencer (2/17), M. W. Ninnes (2/L), Captain J. Cook (4/18), H. E. Kenney (2/23), A. Davies (5/6).

In the three sections, Art Metal Work, Bookbinding, Fancy Leather Work, the proceeds on the sale of articles, voluntarily made by the students for the purpose, will be used to help to refund the Grant made to cover the expenses of the recent improvements tn the School premises.

An exhibition of articles made in the School Handicrafts Department will be held early in May.

GENERAL NOTICES.

The Summer Term begins on May 7th. The enrolment of all students, old and new, in all Departments takes place in the Loft of Barrack 6 on May 1st and May 2nd, 9 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m.

BEFORE Enrolment every student must obtain personally at the Office a Card of Membership which admits to all Classes and Lectures. When getting this card, the student is expected to subscribe to the School Funds. The expenses of the School will be met if every student subscribes at least 25 Pfennigs a week. The Term consists of 12 weeks and the total subscription of M. 3.— should be paid in advance if possible.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

Having examined the accounts and vouchers of the Ruhleben Camp School for the five months ending 31st December 1916, I hereby certify that these accounts are a true and correct statement of the receipts and payments for that period, leaving a Balance of Cash in Hand of M. 359.19.

(Signed) D. D. McNaught (Chartered Accountant).

On behalf of the School the Committee wishes to thank the gentlemen who have been good enough to make special donations to the School Funds.
