OCKBROOK MORAVIAN
SETTLEMENT GIRLS SCHOOL

Papers in the custody of the Headmistress of Ockbrook Girls School surveyed during the headship of the late Miss Birtle. The School was founded as part of the Moravian Settlement at Ockbrook in 1799. The first headmistress was Anna Pogson. There was also a boarding school for boys, and a day school for children of both sexes, run by the Sisters House. The day school seems to have accounted to the Girls School.

JCS

SETTLEMENT

House Orders of the single sisters at Ockbrook (living in community), preceded by a statement of the spiritual aims and intentions of the settlement in adopting a system of communities, signed by Ignatius Franckner, 10 October 1816 1816
